

Microsoft SharePoint Legal DMS Knowledge Sharing Workshop

Learn what's new from Sword, Microsoft and each other!

Sword Group's Enterprise Content Management Practice, in conjunction with Microsoft, is hosting a free interactive workshop - with live demonstration - at its New York offices to explore how clients in the Legal sector can leverage greater interoperability and increase client value whilst reducing cost of ownership by exploiting SharePoint 2010 as a Document Management Solution.

The workshop will discuss how firms can meet age old challenges of effective matter management and client retention, to the new and evolving challenges and opportunities associated with the way firms communicate effectively and win new business.

Microsoft will present their current vision detailing how SharePoint is impacting the mobile information workers within professional services firms.

Industry Consultant and well respected pillar of the international Legal community, Anthony DeCerce from TDC Consulting will outline recent experiences in advising some of the world's largest legal practices in their "SharePoint journey" - including the SharePoint "sea change" and how to embrace it for maximum effect.

Legal industry specialists eSentio Technologies will offer their vendor independent view on where they see the future of the DMS market and the role Microsoft can play.

Sword, in conjunction with Leading International Law Firm Fenwick & West LLP will show a live demonstration of the new SharePoint 2010 based Excalibur Legal DMS - including the new SharePoint 2010 Client Extranet module and how this delivers a holistic end to end process. Fenwick & West will outline why they took the progressive step of choosing Excalibur as their SharePoint 2010 based DMS, how it fits into their wider Microsoft strategy and long term benefits to the firm and their clients.

This event is aimed at Legal business and technology professionals looking to exploit the power and potential of the Microsoft SharePoint platform. It is a great opportunity to participate and network with Microsoft, your peers and subject matter experts in SharePoint and Enterprise Content Management in an informal environment.
